

GC Steel, State Confer on Settlement of Pollution Case

A settlement of state air pollution charges against Granite City Steel Co. was being negotiated today between attorneys of the steel firm and officials of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Meetings were continuing between representatives of both sides following conferences in Chicago Friday attended by Herbert Caplan, assistant Illinois attorney general representing the EPA, and attorneys for Granite City Steel Co.

No further hearing of testimony in the pollution case was to be held today, although the hearing originally had been scheduled to reopen today in Granite City and continue throughout the rest of the week.

Attorneys said it is unlikely the hearings will resume Thursday.

Representing the steel firm at meetings in which a compromise for pollution control by the company is being sought are Randall Robertson of Granite City, and Thomas Sullivan and Mrs. Leah Hamilton of the Chicago law firm of Jenner & Block.

The hearings on pollution charges opened here May 18 and have continued several days each week since that time. The latest of these hearings was resumed here Thursday morning.

The hearing came to a sudden halt Thursday afternoon when attorneys for both sides announced that they had reached a tentative agreement and requested Friday's session be cancelled in order to give both parties an opportunity to consult with associates during the weekend.

After announcement of the tentative settlement, Caplan announced, "There is a possibility that we are near settlement on this issue. The main issue was whether the company would voluntarily agree to a program the EPA accepts as reasonable and adequate to control the problem."

If an agreement is reached, Caplan indicated it would be submitted to the EPA for consideration and action, including possible assessment of a fine.

"There would be an agreed figure which would be paid immediately," the assistant attorney general said. When asked for an estimate, Caplan commented, "I would rather not go into that, but it will be an agreed fine, not the day-by-day violation fine previously mentioned."

When asked if the hearings had been an attempt to force the EPA program down Granite City Steel's throat," Caplan replied, "No, I wouldn't say that. The hearing was an attempt to get an acceptable program the EPA would accept and the company would agree to."

Telford on Stand

The announcement interrupted Sullivan's cross-examination of Anton Telford, manager of the Region 4 office of the Illinois EPA, in Collinsville.

Telford answered questions during the morning session concerning specific times, facilities, weather conditions and waste directed during his observations of the plant.

Sullivan's questioning emphasized the observations mentioned by Telford at times when no violations of air pollution rules were observed.

He also testified, "The Ringelmann readings, used to determine the blackness of smoke emissions could be altered by the introduction of steam into the smoke, lightening the color of the smoke."

"When a fire on a coke oven goes out, the heat of the fire, the Ringelmann reading will be zero or near zero (pure white smoke) even though smoke was still emitted," he testified.

A petite brown-eyed beauty with long shiny brown hair and a sparkling smile couldn't believe her good fortune when fellow contestants in the Miss Granite City Pageant voted her the "Miss Congeniality" award in the same young woman who, by unanimous vote, was crowned the new Miss Granite City.

Sullivan agreed and Lawton called Rust to the stand.

Rust introduced into evidence reports which he had sent to the state EPA after observations of Granite City Steel Co. The reports listed specific pollution violations, including Ringelmann readings, observed by Rust.

Sullivan objected that the reports were hearsay evidence since Rust took on the scene as he made the observations. Rust overruled the objection. The attorney further objected that one of the reports was not written by Rust, but was inadmissible. Lawton agreed to that objection.

Using the remaining five reports, Rust testified to pollution violations which he said he observed, including emissions from the coke oven stacks, the sintering plant, the boiler house, the basic oxygen furnace, the electrostatic precipitator and the cooling tower.

During cross-examination on the acceptability of the letters as evidence, Sullivan warned LaSara to stop prompting the witness by nodding his head. "Inadvertently, I'm sure," Sullivan added. "Not at all, I'm sure," LaSara responded.

50 per cent of the total points for achievement in the pageant sequence and 25 percent for appearance in a swimsuit.

The remaining points were accumulated for appearance in an evening gown, pose in answering questions and personal exhibition during a personal interview with the judges.

On Judges' Panel

Those serving on the judging panel were Mrs. Marjorie Ford of Belvidere, Ill., the mother of Miss America of 1969, Peter Patrick, a fashion photographer who has served as a judge at more than 50 preliminary Miss America contests, including state pageants, and also acts as a consultant at the national pageant.

Kenneth Brown Billups, president of the National Association of Negro Musicians and executive director of the Mayor's Council on Youth in St. Louis; Jack Collins of Elgin, head of the Miss Illinois State Pageant and Jerry Nelson, business administrator at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, and a regional director of the Miss Illinois Pageant.

Other candidates in Thursday night's contest were Miss Patricia Ann Finkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Finkle, 2855 Benton St.; Miss Anita Marie Gasparovic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gasparovic, 2150 Edison Ave.; and Miss Anita Rozyski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rozyski, 2016 Lindell Blvd.

The new title holder looked radiant as she accepted the trophy.

Boy, 14, Dies of Traffic Injuries

Michael Vidan, 14, of 2844 E. 27th St., died Sunday afternoon of injuries sustained in an automobile accident June 15 in which his father, Charles Vidan, 50, and a 14-year-old son, Lillian Petrovic, 30, were killed. A pupil at Central Junior High School, the victim was in critical condition at St. John's Hospital, Springfield, Mo., since the accident.

His mother, Mrs. Milveta Vidan, remains a patient in the same hospital with injuries suffered in the two-vehicle collision that occurred eight miles south of Springfield, near the junction of Highway 65 and 14, in Christian County, Mo.

The boy's death is the 10th traffic fatality in the Quad-City area, or involving area residents, during the month of June. It brings to 29 the total number of traffic fatalities for this year, compared to 10 deaths at the same time in 1970.

The Vidan family, with Miss Petrovic of Paris, France, a niece of Mr. Vidan's who was visiting here, was enroute to Silver Dollar City amusement resort Ozarks on a vacation trip.

Missouri Highway Patrol officers said that Mrs. Vidan was driving the southeast car when it was struck head on by the northbound vehicle of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Woodall, of North Little Rock, Ark., which

GC Tax Collections Begun at City Hall

Granite City tax bills lined up in the city hall this morning to pay their 1970 tax bills as City Treasurer Paul Marzetti began this year's tax collection period. Payments are being made in the city clerk's office during 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Granite City taxpayers are charged this year with payment of $8,621,739 in local taxes, a slight drop below the total tax of $9,828,714 last year. The tax collection period is expected to continue until mid-August.

Rutledge said today that taxpayers who may have inquiries about their bills may wish to call the city clerk's office at 877-6747 while the collection period is in progress.

Week-Long Celebration to Mark GC Park District's 50th Year; Opens Tomorrow

Joe Schirmer, known internationally as "King of the Banjo," will headline the season's first "Music Under the Stars" program at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Wilson Park pavilion.

The concert also will inaugurate the park district's 50th anniversary celebration, including the annual Fourth of July Festival which this year extends over a seven-day period beginning tomorrow night and concluding Monday, July 5.

Highlights of the coming week will focus on two main events: fireworks shows, slated for 9 p.m. Sunday, July 4, and Monday, July 5; an admission free dance for teenagers Thursday evening; band concert and family picnic Sunday, July 4; and a "Friday night" softball game at 8 p.m. Saturday at Diamond No. 8.

Throughout the week, a wide assortment of midweek rides will be operating for the enjoyment of festival patrons, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today.

"Corky the Clown"

Of special interest to youngsters, a matinee event, set for 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, will feature rides at the reduced price of 20 cents, the park official said.

"Corky the Clown," a favorite television personality with the younger set, will perform for the children between 1 and 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Adding to the gala celebration will be the "billion dollar exhibition," sponsored by the Ladies of Lincoln Coin Club Saturday and Sunday, July 3 and 4, in the Wilson Park pavilion, and a ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Friday at which former park commissioners and district officials will be accorded special tribute. Brown announced.

Tomorrow evening's "Music Under the Stars" also will spotlight the three park district sponsored choruses, consisting of junior high and senior high school age youngsters and adult chorus members, under the direction of Raymond Voorhees.

In keeping with the July 4 theme, the children's event will present selections based on the theme—"Songs of America"—with music from the works of such well known composers as Irving Berlin, Henry Mancini, Harry Simeone and others, the director said.

State Remap May Go to Commission

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Illinois legislators opened the third week of the current session in Springfield today confronted by the knotty problem of reapportionment of the state's new legislative districts. The adjournment deadline is midnight Wednesday.

There seems little likelihood that Republicans and Democrats will resolve differences that developed late last week as the Democrats introduced their own reapportionment plan, a proposal that was withdrawn Friday when it faced certain defeat in the Senate.

Unless the issue is settled before the assembly adjourns, the matter will be taken out of the legislators' hands and left up to a constitutionally-decreed group whose ultimate "saving" members would be chosen by lot.

The two parties are tied in the Senate and Republicans hold a majority in the House. Since both parties have reapportionment plans of their own, any early settlement will

Decorated Veteran of Vietnam Ends Service

Army Specialist Five David Batson, who was wounded in action last July in Vietnam and was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal and the Army Commendation Medal, both with "V" Device for heroism, has arrived home after two years in service. He also has the Purple Heart medal.

He was struck by small arms fire while on a combat operation against a hostile force. He suffered a wound to the chest which resulted in lung congestion.

Spec. 5 Batson, a 1968 graduate of Granite City High School, was in service about a year when wounded. He had participated in the Cambodian operation before returning to Vietnam.

The local serviceman was reassigned to Korea after recovering from his wounds and remained there until completing his tour of duty.

Prior to entering the service he was employed at Laclede Steel Co. He tentatively plans to continue his education.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Batson, 2819 Roosevelt Ave.

GC Sales to Western Electric at $69,000

Five Granite City business firms sold more than $69,000 worth of goods and services to Western Electric during 1970, according to figures released by Southwestern Bell.

"These sales represent a substantial contribution to Granite City's economy and emphasize the role local businesses play in helping Southwestern Bell expand and improve telephone service," Joe Smith, manager for the telephone company, said.

Smith added that Western Electric purchases in St. Clair and Madison counties totaled $6 million last year.

In addition, Western Electric paid $306 million in salaries throughout the state," Smith said.

Pontoon Board Unhappy Over Road Plan Progress

Dissatisfaction over results of their dealings with Nemook Township Supervisor Louis Whitsett in planning a road maintenance program was expressed Thursday night by Pontoon Beach village trustees who agreed to have no further discussions of the road program until the supervisor contacts the board.

Fred Reecer, a village board member, complained that while Whitsett had made public offers of township assistance in maintaining and improving village streets, "he has been unavailable for two weeks to discuss the plans." Reecer said he had made several telephone calls to Whitsett, and that they never were returned.

Dr. Dean Rochester, another trustee, remarked that he believed Whitsett's failure to return Reecer's call was "strictly rude behavior." Reecer agreed, commenting that "Whitsett seems to be playing some kind of a political game."

Rochester also charged Whitsett with "stirring up trouble on the road matter. He complained about the road in front of his house. I toured his street and found it 100% better than the roads in the rest of this township." Whitsett lives at 3 Westgate Drive in Pontoon Beach.

In other action, the trustees accepted the resignations of three Pontoon Beach patrolmen, Kenneth White, Ronald York and Robert Littlejohn. Rochester asked that in the future resigning policemen be required to submit a written resignation.

He said the resignation should contain the reason for the resignation if the policeman would voluntarily give that information. "If our policemen are leaving because something is wrong with the operation of the department, maybe we can correct the problem," Rochester added.

Chester Ballew, a part-time police dispatcher, was hired as a full-time volunteer part-timer by the board, and Ron Hastings, a student, was hired as a part-time sanitary engineer. Hastings' duties would be limited to cleaning and repairing the water level pump at the Quiet Valley Lagoon and to hiring youths to cut grass around the lagoon. His salary was set at $25 a month.

The hiring of Hastings relieved Clarence Hudgins of that duty so that he could spend more time at the village building inspector, another $25 per month position.

Receives MFT Funds

Stalcoff informed the board that the state has approved $11,450 in motor fuel taxes for the village from May 1, 1970 through May 1, 1971.

David Moss, health inspector, requested that he be made a bonded special policeman in order to better perform his duties. Stalcoff suggested that the board make official and badge that this authority should be made official and badge that should be ordered. It was suggested the treasurer also be included. The chief of police was instructed to design and purchase nine special police badges.

A book of rules and regulations for village policemen was presented to the board.

President Stalcoff suggested that the board should meet twice monthly, rather than once a month as it now does. The increase would cost the village an additional $140 per month in per diem pay.

The trustees voted to instruct the village attorney to prepare an amendment to the meeting ordinance changing the meetings to the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. The amendment will be voted on at the next regular meeting July 22.

The meeting was adjourned

Percy Files Bill For Special Drug Prevention Plan

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) has introduced the Administration's bill to establish a Special Office for Drug Abuse Prevention. He was joined by Senators Ribicoff, McClellan, Javits, Scott, Saxton, Curney, Allen, Brock, Chiles, Roth and Mathias. Others are expected to join later.

In remarks made on the Senate floor at the time the bill was introduced, Percy said, "It is with mixed emotion that I appear in the Chamber today. I am, of course, highly pleased to announce a bold, new, White House initiative to deal with the agonizing problem of drug abuse in this country. But to even allude to this initiative, one must face up to the oppressive facts that establish the depth and dimensions of this disease that is infecting our society, and especially our youth. 'This new all-out offensive' will be headed by a director accountable to the President, an indication of the importance President Nixon attaches to this problem. Another indication of the importance is his selection of Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe to head this office," Percy continued.

Dr. Jaffe is presently the Director of the drug abuse control program of the State of Illinois. "He has been a leader in developing innovative techniques for the treatment of heroin addiction, including comprehensive approaches involving methadone use."

The Senator indicated his special enthusiasm for the proposals directed toward rehabilitating Vietnam Veterans who return under the curse of addiction. "We now are all too aware of the pervasive extent of heroin traffic among our G.I.s stationed in Vietnam. It is fatuous to speak of the drug problem without alluding to the hellish contribution of the war to the problem. But let us turn now from a war that we don't want, to a segment of society that we do so earnestly want. 'We must redirect our attention and our energies and our monies, lest we lose our youth, not only to the hateful clash of war, but also to the pitiful whimper of despair.'"

Sharp Rise in Steel Firms' Environment Control Costs

The domestic steel industry's investment in environmental quality control equipment has risen sharply in 1970, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

An AISI survey completed this month reveals that U. S. firms producing about 98% of the nation's iron and steel placed into operation a record $166,385,000 worth of new air and water quality control facilities during the year.

This was an increase from the $138,034,000 spent for such equipment in 1969.

The domestic steel industry's investment in environmental quality control facilities at the end of 1970 was over $1 billion. The industry invested $506,509,000 in environmental quality control equipment between the beginning of 1966 and the end of 1970 alone.

Although the steel industry's profits in 1970 were the lowest they have been since the forties, domestic steelmakers have authorized an additional $354,638,000 for environmental protection facilities slated to go into operation in 1971 and later years.

Industry experts estimate the annual cost of maintaining and operating pollution control equipment at roughly 10% of the original construction cost. This means that as of the end of 1970, domestic steelmakers were spending more than $100,000,000 a year just to keep existing air and water purification facilities going.

Of the $166,385,000 worth of new pollution fighting units placed on stream last year, $97,263,000 was invested in water cleaning equipment. This was a jump of $26,280,000 over the $70,983,000 worth of such equipment which began operation in 1969.

Air Quality Control

The new air quality control facilities which began operation in 1970 were valued at $69,122,000—more than $2,000,000 over the value of similar facilities installed in the previous year.

During the past 20 years, however, total steel industry environmental equipment investment has been very nearly split even between air and water pollution control. Of the more than one billion dollars spent for these purposes during the period, $512,810,000 went into water clean-up facilities, and $492,182,000 for air quality equipment.

Of the $354,638,000 allocated for future pollution fighting, $193,378,000 will go toward air purification facilities and $161,260,000 toward additional water pollution control equipment.

The massive task of preserving the environment has long been recognized by leaders of the steel industry, which, through AISI, has sponsored environmental control research since the 1930s, a spokesman asserted. These studies have pioneered many innovations currently in use by steelmakers.

Smokeless Prototype
Steelmakers continue to explore new ways to improve their performance. American Iron and Steel Institute and the Environmental Protection Agency are jointly underwriting the construction of a new prototype facility, scheduled to begin operation later this year, which will test a steel industry-developed process for "smokeless" charging of coal into coke ovens.

The process will trap gases and smoke from escaping into the air, diverting them into a collecting system so that they can be converted into byproducts.

Recognizing the ever-increasing burden pollution control investment will place upon all industry in coming years, the nation's steelmakers have proposed reforms to expedite this task.

Through American Iron and Steel Institute, they have suggested that the government establish a special $3,000,000,000 revolving fund for long-term, low-interest loans to help all industry underwrite its massive fight against water pollution.

The industry also supports special tax treatment of air and water quality facilities.

New Truck Fee Set for Transporting Vehicles

A new license fee has been established for trucks and other second division motor vehicles used only for transporting machinery and equipment for soil and water conservation work on farms and in drainage districts; organized for agricultural purposes, Secretary of State John W. Lewis has announced.

The legislation, enacted by the current session of the General Assembly and approved by Governor Richard E. Ogilvie, becomes effective July 1.

It sets a fiscal year fee of $325 for those vehicles and restricts their use to a 50-mile radius of a designated point and to certain types of movements such as from farm to farm or returning to headquarters.

Less than 150 vehicles will qualify for registration at the new fee, but some owners will realize a significant saving in the cost of their operation. Applications for registration of these vehicles must be sent to Springfield, as the plates will be issued only from that source, Secretary Lewis said.

The plates will have a blue background and orange lettering and numerals, with the letters CN following the license number, Lewis said.

A total of 26 young men from Madison County reported for physical examinations Thursday, including three from the Quad-City area, seven from Alton and 13 from Edwardsville.

The number reporting for physical examinations exceeded the announced June draft call which was increased two weeks ago.

No draft call has been issued for July and none is expected until Congress extends the draft for another two years.

Registered Bridal Consultant
HUDSON JEWELRY
Granite City and Edwardsville

The solemn and stately procession of the wedding party down the aisle of the beautiful, richly decorated church does not just happen. Each person plays a part which has its beginning in antiquity.

In earliest times the Bride's Attendants were just that—attendants of her family and closest friends who combined their talents to make her as beautiful as possible for her Bridegroom. In succeeding centuries, the Bride's Attendants assumed the roles of Ladies-in-Waiting to the Queen—because then as now—every Bride is Queen for a day to her friends and well-wishers. And at some point near or in history a little girl was often chosen as one of the Bride's Attendants to serve as a symbol of the innocence and chastity of the Bride. She is today's Flower Girl.

It has always been right and proper for the Bride to present each of her Attendants with a token of appreciation and affection—and that is why Hudson's comes in. As Members of National Bridal Service, Hudson's has an especially selected group of unusual and distinctive gifts for the Bridesmaids, which have been carefully selected from the markets of the world—and in a range of prices to suit every budget. There are slim and lovely compacts, delicate bracelets, and rings suited to the occasion, plus many other small and charming pieces of jewelry which can be personalized for each attendant.

At Hudson's helping Brides is our business, and our pleasure. Do come in soon, we'll be glad to discuss your Wedding Plans fully. Next week we will tell you the interesting origins of the Groomsmen.

Hawaiian Theme for Harper-Pingel Rites

In what is believed to be the first Hawaiian style wedding in this area, Miss Jocelyn Ann Pingel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Pingel, 907 Greenwood St., Madison, became the bride of Michael D. Harper, 1108 Reynolds St., on Saturday morning. Mr. Harper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Robbins, 1327 Iowa St., Madison.

Miss Pingel and Mr. Harper chose an Hawaiian atmosphere for their wedding because Miss Pingel's mother spent many years in Hawaii and viewed many Hawaiian weddings.

The attire of the entire wedding party was patterned after authentic Hawaiian apparel, and leis were worn in from Hawaii for the ceremony.

As the guests arrived at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church for the 11 o'clock ceremony, they noted the first departure from the traditional wedding ceremony in the costumes of the ushers, Charles Coerver, the nephew of the groom, and Warren Pingel, brother of the bride.

They wore white long-sleeved shirts, black trousers, and peach satin sashes which matched the color of the dresses of the book attendants, Jamie and Jennie Pingel, sisters of the bride.

The sisters were attired in peach satin holonuu and wore crown flower leis of white. Mr. Pingel, attired all in white with the exception of a yellow satin sash which matched the holonuu of the bride's mother, escorted his daughter down the white-carpeted aisle, past ferns displaying the family pews and altar greenery.

The Rev. Conrad Motola, O.F.M., officiated.

The bride was in a white satin holoku with ruffles adorning the sleeves, neck, hemline and border of the train. The holoku is the traditional Hawaiian wedding dress. Miss Pingel wore a Mai lei, consisting of green leaves only, and a white crown flower lei in place of a veil.

The maid of honor, Miss Donna Hotop, wore a blue satin holonuu. The fitted muu muu had puffed sleeves and satin ribbon on the cuffs and back of the gown.

The bride's sister, Miss Joetta Pingel, was attired in a green holonuu while Miss Karen Koles was lavender.

A junior bridesmaid, Miss Jackie Pingel, another of the bride's sisters, wore a yellow holonuu.

All the holonuu were styled like that of the maid of honor. The bride's attendants adorned their heads with crown flower leis and circlets matching the shades of their dresses.

For her cousin's wedding, the flower girl, Miss Lisa Hechle, wore a pink satin holonuu in the style of the bridesmaid's dress.

She carried white flowers in a white satin flower basket which had bows and satin streamers in the colors of the attendants' dresses.

The ring bearer, Robert Steiner, was attired in white with a pink satin sash matching the flower girl's holonuu.

The groom and his corps of groomsmen also were dressed in accord with Hawaiian custom.

The groom wore a white long-sleeved shirt, white trousers and shoes, a white satin sash and a Mai lei.

The groomsmen wore white crown flower leis.

Groomsmen were Charles Chamberlain, a brother-in-law of the groom, Leonard and Richard Harper, brothers of the groom, and Richard Laswell. They were attired like the groom with the exception of their satin sashes, which were in the colors of the appropriate bridesmaids' dresses.

The mother of the bride chose a yellow brocade satin holonuu with matching yellow accessories and a crown flower lei with attached orchid.

The groom's mother was in a mint green satin holonuu with matching green lace and accessories. Her crown lei also had an attached orchid. Mr. Robbins wore all white and mint green satin sash to match his wife's attire.

Mrs. Eleanor Tutka played the organ and sang traditional wedding songs in addition to the Hawaiian Wedding Song.

The Hawaiian theme also provided the setting for the wedding reception, given in the Polish Hall in Madison.

The newlyweds will honeymoon in Niagara Falls, Canada. They will reside at 1108 Reynolds St., Madison. Both are graduates of Madison High School and Mr. Harper is employed by Dennis Chemical Co., St. Louis.

Out-of-town guests here were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hotop and family, Walter M. Pingel, the bride's grandfather, Mrs. Dora Stammer, the bride's great grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stevie and family of Perryville, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pingel and family, Redford, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Stroder and family, Lepold, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand and family, Dixon, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Cameron and family, Winfield, Mo., Mrs. Robbins, Manchester, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Nardi and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Akers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leswell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rotes and family and Mr. and Mrs. Resinger.

MRS. MILTON O. WALLACE, a recent bride. The former Barbara Ann Brown, her wedding took place Friday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Wallace-Brown Ceremony At Sacred Heart Church

Marriage vows were exchanged Friday evening by Miss Barbara Ann Brown, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Brown, 2622 Madison Ave., and Milton O. Wallace, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Wallace of Florissant, Mo.

The wedding took place at 7:30 o'clock at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Daniel Flynn officiating.

The altar was adorned with pink and white flowers. Lighted candles in hurricane stands entwined with smilax and white ribbon lighted the aisle through which the procession passed.

"The Bridge" was the music of the guitar Mass by Jeanine Unfried, Isabelle Hall, Stephen Nann, Michael Unfried and Dick Sullivan. Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw was at the organ and the selections were "We've Only Just Begun," "The First Time I Saw Your Face" and "Today."

A gown of candlelight silk organza over tulle was worn by the bride. It was designed on Juliet line with re-embroidered, beaded Alencon lace and silk braid trimming the high neck, the Empire bodice and the full cuffed sleeves. Lace and braid also accented the removable court train.

A shoulder-length veil of silk illusion cascaded from an open crown of lace and braid and the bride carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white roses and baby breath.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Daniel Brown, a sister-in-law, matron of honor, and Mrs. Thaddeus D. Prada, a cousin, and Mrs. Walter J. Smolski, bridesmaids. Dressed alike, they were in dark brown voile and ecru lace gowns interwoven with narrow velvet ribbon and styled with lace bibs extending from the Victorian necklines. Additional lace trimmed the Empire bodices and the cuffs of the long sleeves. The full skirts were softly gathered. All held nosegays of pink Sweetheart roses, white pom poms and baby breath.

The bride's flower girls, Ellen Marie and Felicia Louise Brown, nieces of the bride, dressed like the bridesmaids, carried baskets of pink and white flowers and petals. Timothy Hensley, the bridegroom's nephew served as ring bearer.

David H. Baston was best man and the corps of groomsmen and ushers included Donald G. Mahlin, Steven Ledgerwood, John F. Brown and Daniel Brown, brothers of the bride, and James Hensley, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother selected a powder blue knit dress and coat ensemble, while the bridegroom's mother appeared in a rose-colored knit sheath dress. Both wore white accessories and cymbidium orchid corsages.

A buffet reception for about 300 guests was held at Holy Trinity Hall in Madison and the newlyweds left later for a honeymoon in Miami, Fla., New Orleans, La., and Atlanta, Ga. When they return they will reside in Granite City.

Miss Debby Bauer presided over the guest book at the reception. The former Miss Brown graduated from St. Teresa Academy in East St. Louis in 1968. In 1970, she received a B.S. degree

Miss Tina Louisa Waggoner and Michael Economy Jr., were married Friday evening at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison.

The skirt flowed softly to form a tiered train and a crown headpiece of pearls and sequins secured the bride's short illusion veil. She carried a Victorian bouquet of white Sweetheart roses tied pale ivory with a simple tulle bow.

Malnutrition Hits Affluent Due to Poor Food Decisions

The affluent American is suffering from malnutrition. Impossible? Not at all. In this land of abundant resources, the affluent American should be the most well-nourished man on earth.

But nutritionists and doctors are alarmed at increasing evidence of malnutrition on the part of many who have the money to buy whatever food they want, according to a study by the Family Economics Bureau.

As a nation, we are becoming overfed and undernourished. Despite steadily rising incomes, the diets of affluent Americans are less nutritious now than they were 10 years ago.

Nutritionists say that as many as 10% of the population may be anemic, while at the same time 25% of all Americans are overweight.

Malnutrition is a word that generally brings to mind a picture of a starving child in some remote corner of the world, not a resident of middle or upper class suburbia, U. S. A. But malnutrition exists in every state of the Union. Often it's mild, but sometimes it's quite serious.

Dr. Jean Mayer, chairman of the White House Conference on Foods and Nutrition, defines hunger as a lack of food.

Malnutrition refers to the consumption of the wrong kinds of food. It may exist along with a stomach full of food—but of inadequate quality.

Economists say that 15 to 30 million Americans can't afford an adequate diet. As yet, however, no one has been able to determine the number who add the means to eat well but don't.

According to Dr. George Mann of Vanderbilt University Medical School, more persons in the U. S. are malnourished because of nutritional ignorance and misinformation than because of poverty.

Today, the abundance of food available requires decision making—whether a consumer has to stretch his dollars or doesn't have to worry about the cost of food.

Decision-making is just as important among the rich as the poor. The cost of a food is not a measure of its nutritive value.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture 1960 Household Dietary Study showed that diets of 47% of families with incomes of $10,000 or more were nutritionally "poor" or "fair."

Only 50% of all households met recommended allowances for all nutrients. Yet, this study measured only the food brought into a house. It did not take into account varying amounts eaten by individual family members or food which is discarded.

And Americans throw away enough food each week to feed millions. So, the true picture could be much worse.

Dr. Mayer, in testimony at Senate hearings, said that the ignorance of Americans regarding calorie count and nutrient value of foods is appalling.

Even among those who have some idea of a balanced diet, the growth of factory-formulated foods and snack foods often makes previous dietary education unreliable.

Many people, when dieting, pass up a potato at 100 calories, to take another piece of meat, at 250 calories. Potatoes, however, are good sources of vitamins and minerals, are not fattening—it's the butter or gravy put on them that adds to the waistline.

The affluent society has become a sedentary society. Lack of exercise, coupled with overeating, means more persons in the U. S. are malnourished because of the highest obesity rates in the world, reports the Family Economics Bureau.

A car in the front yard for a two-block trip to the store, let alone a trip to the kitchen to get a can of soup, is an overweight way of life.

Overweight individuals are much more susceptible to diabetes, high blood pressure, heart trouble, pulmonary disorders and early death.

The United States is the only country in the World Health Organization that has shown no increase in life expectancy in the last 20 years. Too little exercise and too many calories are mostly responsible for the increase in cardiovascular disease and deaths in this country.

Everyone, throughout life, has need for protein, carbohydrate, fat, vitamins and minerals in his diet. But the needs vary according to age, sex, size and activity.

All are necessary to build, maintain and repair the body, regulate the body processes and provide energy.

A poorly fed child is less curious, has less stamina and is easily distracted from learning. A worker ill-fed is less productive and more often absent from work.

As a nation, we are paying heavily in medical care for diet-related illnesses, in remedial education for slowness at school and in loss of productive potential on the job.

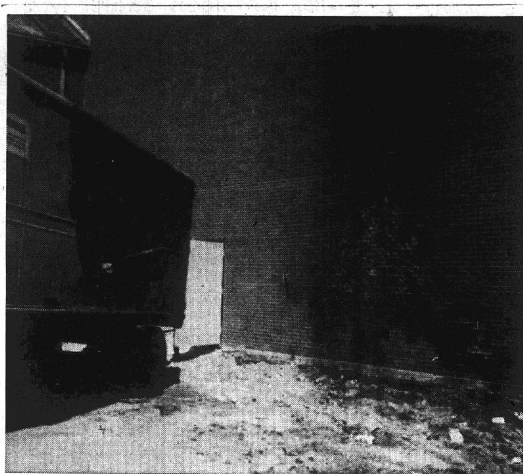

Basic nutritional habits have traditionally begun at home, with mothers setting the pattern for family meals. As more women have joined the working world, there has been less emphasis on home food preparation.

Today, 30 to 40% of our food is consumed away from home. With the abundance of convenience foods, even small children can feed themselves, and often they make bad choices.

Consumption of milk and other dairy products, rich in calcium, has been a steadily decreasing. It is estimated that 50% of adolescent girls and 75% of women over 38 get less than two-thirds of the calcium they need daily.

To obtain enough calcium is almost impossible without drinking a pint of milk per day.

The dietary habits of teenage girls, with their high nutrient needs, are of particular concern. Too often, they undertake unnecessary

DAMAGED

WING. Burning trash caused an estimated $4,000 damage to the new wing of St. Elizabeth Hospital near the emergency room entrance at 3:15 p.m. Thursday. The S. M. Wilson Co. construction trailer at left also sustained $900 damage. Cause of the fire was unknown.

$4,000 Fire Damage To Hospital Wing

Fire-blackened brick on the west side of the new wing at St. Elizabeth Hospital will have to be replaced at an estimated cost of $4,000 as the result of a trash fire Thursday afternoon.

Firemen said furniture crates and other trash from equipment being taken into the new wing were stacked along the building just south of the Emergency Room and burst into flames about 3:05 p.m.

The heat scorched bricks as high as 20 feet up the wall, and bricks as high as 40 feet from the ground were blackened by smoke.

Window ledges and aluminum fixtures at the second-floor level were warped by the heat of the blaze and must be replaced, according to construction engineers.

An S. W. Wilson & Co. construction trailer parked near the blaze sustained an estimated $900 damage. The rear and left side were burned.

Firemen were at the scene 30 minutes. Cause of the fire is undetermined.

Architects Hired for Office Building Study

Frank Resnik, acting director of the Illinois Department of General Services, has announced that a contract has been awarded for a pre-programming study for the East St. Louis Regional Office Building.

Resnik said a $22,000 contract was awarded to Filippo & Kampwerth Architects of Alton.

The purpose of pre-programming is to evaluate potential sites, determine size requirements of agencies to be housed in the building, and develop a schematic plan from which cost and site determinations can be made.

"This study represents the first step in implementing Gov. Richard Ogilvie's plan to bring state services directly to the local level—to meet the needs of the people in the East St. Louis area," Resnik said.

Resnik estimated that the study would require approximately four months.

Boundary Stakes Taken
Planners of a housing subdivision at Maryville Road and Terminal Avenue told police at 3:10 p.m. Thursday that vandals had pulled up all 100 boundary stakes placed by surveyors and the work would have to be redone at a cost of about $600.

Most of the stakes were taken from the water district office, 745 East Chain of Rocks Road.

Funeral Services Held For Drowning Victim

Funeral services were held in Alton Thursday afternoon for Carl Daley Ottwell, 8, of South Roxana, who drowned while swimming at Sun and Fun Beach Resort in Mitchell shortly after noon Tuesday.

Among the diving units which took part in the search for the boy's body were seven members of the Granite City Civil Defense Underwater Recovery Team, led by Rex Wagner, CD coordinator for the emergency unit and air master of the Bubblemasters Diving Club.

Chases Motorist

After watching another auto back into his car in the Kirkpatrick Homes parking lot and then drive away at 12:45 a.m. Friday, Maurice Senior Jr., 4124 North Drive, Pontoon Beach, chased the hit and run vehicle to Alton where he finally stopped the vehicle. The driver was identified as Allen E. Tucker, Brighton, Ill. The left rear of Senior's auto was damaged.

Hit and Run Damage

Phillip G. Cripps, 513 Fleming St., told police Thursday that his auto, parked in the A&P Food Store parking lot, was struck in the rear by a motorist who left the scene.

Cigarette Packages Must Bear Stamps

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott warned today that persons in possession of cigarette packages which do not have revenue stamps are subject to fines of $10 per package for each package in excess of 100.

In a test case filed for the Department of Revenue, a judgment of $1,180 was entered by Cook County Circuit Court Judge Raymond S. Sarnow, June 21, against Beacon Stores, Inc., 1529 Lee Street, Des Plaines, for possession of unstamped cigarette packages.

The test case was filed by Morris S. Bromberg, Assistant Attorney General in April of this year. It charged that Beacon Stores, Inc., and their distributors, Aurora Eby-Brown Co. were in possession of 218 packages of cigarettes which were devoid of revenue stamps.

The complaint tested the statute which imposes a fine of $10 a package for each package of unstamped cigarettes in excess of 100.

Miss Kathleen Sadler Married in Virginia

Of interest locally was the wedding Saturday in Lynchburg, Va., of Miss Kathleen Phayer Sadler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Sadler of Lynchburg, and Charles Michael Grissom, a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Maurice Grissom.

The former Miss Sadler has many relatives in the Granite City-St. Louis area. Her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Joseph Hallisey of Venice, and paternal grandparents are Mrs. Lester Laycock of Granite City, and the late Clyde Sadler.

The ceremony took place at 8 p.m. at Holy Cross Catholic Church with the Rev. Thomas McArdle of St. Patrick's Church in Richmond, Va., and the Rev. Maurice Grissom, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Lynchburg officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Martha Marie Sadler, as maid of honor, and six bridesmaids, Miss Catherine Ann Mathis of Chattanooga, Tenn., Miss Elizabeth Louise Francis, also of Chattanooga, Miss Cynthia Ann McClain of Lynchburg, Mrs. Noble Scott Pierce of Richmond, Miss Patricia Danielle Sadler and Miss Mary Clyde Sadler. The latter two, junior maids, are sisters of the bride.

Robert F. Grissom was best man for his brother. The usher corps was made up of Floyd Wingfield, James Winders and Harry Smith, all of Richmond, and Thomas Michael Sadler of Lynchburg.

The bride attended Spalding College in Louisville, Ky., and graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University with a B.S. degree in Community Services.

Mr. Grissom graduated from the University of Richmond with a B.A. in English and after teaching for a year is now doing graduate work at the University of Richmond.

Amvets Auxiliary Aids Families

Amvets Auxiliary 51 met last week at the Post Home and made arrangements to send clothing to two needy families. Members also decided to sponsor weekly fish fries, starting Friday, July 2, at the Amvets Post, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Mrs. Betty Wilkins, president, was in charge and announced a donation was sent to the "Save the Children" Federation in memory of Joseph Whyers. A total of $150 worth of clothing was authorized for a family with seven children and $250 worth to a needy couple with nine children.

A member who recently visited Peaceful Valley Youth Ranch, Carlinville, taking gifts and records to the boys residing there, reported her expenses, and a discussion followed on the organization's part in the Shriner's Fund.

Prizes won during the social hour went to Mrs. Charlene Sanders and Mrs. Pauline Wickham. Hostesses were Mrs. Margaret Smith and Mrs. Etta Clements.

SOUTHERN BRIDE. Mrs. Charles M. Grissom, the former Kathleen Sadler of Lynchburg, Va., who was married Saturday at Holy Cross Church in Lynchburg.

The military custom is accorded to the bride and groom to extend best wishes and future happiness upon their marriage.

Mrs. Williams, who resided at 1041 Calhoun St., Madison, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Willie M. Robinson. S. Sgt. Post is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Post of Rural Route 5, Box 135, Prescott, Ark.

Mrs. Darnice Franklin, soloist, sang "One Kiss" and The Lord's Prayer accompanied at the organ by Ron Harris and Mrs. Hilda James.

The bride was given in marriage by her son-in-law, S. Sgt. P. Otto Waters. She wore a blue polyester knit dress with full pleated skirt, belted at the waist, and embellished with colored stones. Fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves, the sweetheart neckline was accented with a single pearl worn on a silver chain.

She wore a matching veil secured to a pearl comb and carried a white orchid on a white ribbon with a shower of pale blue satin ribbons.

Mrs. Gilda Waters, daughter of the bride, was matron of honor. She selected a yellow polyester knit dress, featuring a V-neck with sweetheart collar, long sleeves, fitted bodice and full pleated skirt.

For her headpiece she wore a matching net veil and her flowers were a modern nosegay of mixed summer daisies, mums, roses and baby breath festooned with streamers of yellow satin ribbon.

Miss Barbara J. Mang, Dr. Timothy Stout Wed

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding Saturday afternoon of Miss Barbara Jean Mang and Dr. Timothy Lee Stout.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford P. Mang, 839 Edison Ave., and Mrs. Frances Stout and Sam Stout, both of Springfield, Ill.

White summer flowers and greenery decorated the altar of the sanctuary, and lighted candles in hurricane lamps, entwined with smilax and white ribbon, lined the aisle through which the procession passed.

The Rev. Martin Mangano performed the ceremony at two o'clock. Mrs. Cleta Judd presided at the organ and accompanied the vocalist, John Stanfill, as he sang Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. "On This Day" and "Ave Maria."

The bride chose a gown of pure white organza fashioned with an Empire bodice, a sheer yoke and a high neck trimmed with Chantilly lace etched with pearls and bugle beads. Lace appliqued the long tapered sleeves and the bodice and bordered the wide hemline, scalloped and accented with pearls and bugle beads.

A full sweep train fell from the waist. It was bordered with lace and jeweled motifs and a lace and jeweled crown held in place a cathedral veil of silk illusion. A cascade bouquet of araphantis and white carnations, centered with a removable corsage of gardenias, was carried by Saturday's bride.

Miss Marilyn Mang was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Sharon Mang, a cousin, Miss Mary Ann Abramovich, Miss Maryann Fichte, Miss Sandra Pottilo and Miss Marion

Young served as bridesmaids. Their gowns, fashioned of sheer organza over taffeta, differed only in color. They were in rainbow shades of aqua, coral, green, yellow, blue, and pink, enhanced by white straw hats with streamers to match the dresses.

The sheer bodices had round collars and full elbow sleeves edged with Val lace. The bouffant skirts were formed of tiers of ruffles edged with lace and they carried colonial bouquets of carnations tinted to match their gowns combined with white pom-poms.

Robert Hendrickson was best man for Dr. Stout, and the corps of groomsmen and ushers consisted of Jim Bresnahan, Dr. Glenn Olsen, Dr. Tom Amund, Dr. Frank Coble, David Mang, a brother of the bride, and two cousins of the bride, John Klesh and Kenneth Klesh.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Venice after the ceremony.

The newlyweds will make their home at 15A Paul Ave., Granite City.

The former Miss Mang graduated from SIU-SW in 1968 with a B.S. degree in nursing, she is presently an Inservice coordinator at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Dr. Stout graduated from Kemper Military Academy and attended the University of Illinois, receiving a B.S. degree. He is now completing studies in the College of Veterinary Medicine, graduating from the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine last week.

Dr. Stout will be employed at the Belleville Animal Hospital. He is a member of Omega Tau Sigma professional fraternity.

NUTRITION A LA CARTE

Children need as much or more food during the summer than in colder months. They also need adequate rest and fluids to drink. Additional energy and fluid help keep their bodies at proper temperature during active outdoor play. If your child loses weight during the summer, it may be caused by a lack of sufficient rest, food, or fluids.

How do we get energy from the sun? Plants make carbohydrates by photosynthesis. Part of this process involves interaction between sunlight and the green plant pigment, chlorophyll. Energy from sunlight is trapped by chlorophyll, and this energy sets in motion a series of intricate chemical reactions that result in the production of carbohydrates.

High temperatures call for cooler foods—not just for mother to eat down cooking. You need just as many calories to maintain body temperature so don't reduce fat in your diets—you can get your needed fat from cream on berries, ice cream, cool salad dressing, and skip the hot fried foods and rich gravies.

Salads are wonderful warm weather food. A salad can, in fact, be your whole meal. Mix greens together, add chunks of cheese, luncheon meats, kidney beans, celery—or chunks of fruit, or a helping of cottage cheese. Salads are cool to prepare and eat. Add buttered crackers, or toast strips, and a glass of cool milk, and you have the four food groups.

Does your family dislike vegetables? These ideas may help: Serve vegetables raw. Children like such finger foods as carrot sticks, green pepper strips, and turnip wheels. Also, encourage your children to help prepare vegetable dishes—it may perk up appetites. Use newspapers and new ways to fix these foods.

People used to worry about food drinks in summer. But doctors know that food drinks do no harm if they are not taken too fast. When it comes to food in warm weather, our eating should be a pleasure, not a chore. For protein, there are cold meats, poultry, and hard-boiled eggs—well as cool milk, cheese, and ice cream.

Here's a great spring and summer salad. Mix green beans, apple sauce, and an 8-ounce can of club soda as you beat the ice cream with a rotary beater or electric mixer.

Lack of Hope, Not Lack of Ability, Is Biggest Obstacle to Happiness

What are scientists up to these days? Judging by reports the Press-Record receives from varied scientific associations, quite a lot.

Almost no subject escapes their interest. Consider this commentary by Dr. Elaine Weister, professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin. The American Psychological Association forwarded her findings under the heading, "Playing hard to get? You may not get it."

Grammatical or not, the heading was enough to prompt us to read on.

"Playing hard to get is a good way not to get. This is one conclusion drawn from several studies I have done on love and how people get it."

"Contrary to the belief that the unobtainable is always most desirable, my studies show that the best way to be loved is to be friendly, agreeable and conveniently located."

"There is a lot of good evidence that if you don't know how someone is feeling, if you assume he'll like you, it's a good strategy."

"Some people who need love and affection don't seem to be able to get it. These are people with low self-esteem, people who just don't think they are worth much."

"While some psychologists have felt that people with low self-esteem are incapable of love, I do not agree. It isn't lack of capability, it's a lack of hope."

"Once someone of low-esteem really believes he is loved, he will give love with great joy."

"In my therapy with people such as this, I say, 'Be a little brave. Take a chance.'"

"I think the low-self-esteem people are afraid they've made fools of it," she concludes. "While 'love is blind' is said humorously, Mrs. Audrey Armstrong of the American Institute of Physics reported on attempts to deal with the handicaps of actual blindness."

"She tells us, 'A new laser came, still very much in the experimental stage, holds out the promise of allowing blind people to move about safely in unfamiliar locations.'"

"When it is perfected, the device should help the blind to detect objects ahead of, above, and below their paths. The laser came is being evaluated by the Research and Development division of the Veterans Administration Prosthetic and Sensory Aids Service."

Leadership, Not Obstruction, Needed in Ill. House on Exposition Center Proposal

It is difficult to comprehend why Governor Ogilvie and Republicans like State Representative Walters are taking a negative or lukewarm attitude toward such a constructive piece of legislation as the plan for an exposition hall and convention center in the Madison-St. Clair Counties area.

William Handley, legislative counsel to the governor, said he favors drastic revisions—requiring a local referendum and local taxes amounting to $7½ million, half of the estimated exposition center cost of $15 million.

This is an unreasonable stand and one calculated to kill the proposal; such elections have lost in Rockford and Springfield, as Mr. Handley himself points out.

Points being overlooked are that the exposition plan is patterned after the McCormick Place project in Chicago, and that no sales, property or income taxes are involved.

The agriculture premium fund, derived from a share of the pari-mutuel betting at Illinois racetracks, would be utilized as a guarantor but not necessarily a contributor; money to construct the center would come from revenue bonds, to be retired from operation of the center.

Chicago is No. 1 and this area is No. 2 in concentration of population. It is "our turn," and we feel Gov. Ogilvie and Republican legislators should lead, not obstruct, toward approval of the Senate-passed exposition center legislation.

No 'Summer Lull'; Enough News Lately to Fill Two Front Pages in Each Press-Record

"Try and put this on Page One" is a frequent suggestion from the readers of the Press-Record. The June 21 first page included a local Vietnam fatality, a drowning, two auto accident deaths, disclosure of a new Madison bridge lease plan, Granite City Jubilee news, presentation of an award in Washington to an injured Venice youth, a fire which injured three boys and announcement of the Levee District election.

A second "front page" easily could have been filled in that issue with such important news as Madison School Board bus and class assignment decisions, election precinct information, the Granite City Street Pollution hearings, an airplane crash in which a Granite City youth was burned, plans for a graduate nurse program at SIU-SW and appointment of David Hunkler as a Namekoi Township assistant supervisor.

A similar situation arose June 24 when Page One presented Tri-City Regional Port dock and warehouse plans, another drowning, another plane crash, the Levee election results, possible future usage of the Army Depot, Granite City street paving proposals, a traffic crash, the Granite City Park District 50th anniversary, a new coke pellet manufacturing process which may ease air pollution problems, the illness of a former mayor and the appointment of Paul Rutledge as city treasurer and Frank Greenwald as a Second Ward alderman in Granite City.

Reports not used on the front page, but newsworthy enough to appear there, included Madison City Council Board action, approval of state tax aid for non-public schools, state legislative developments, the Miss Granite City pageant, school rulings, a new Madison bridge, SIU-SW Dental School budget problems and SIU-SW We haven't figured out yet how to fold the newspaper so that there is more than one front page. Fortunately, there are usually 19 or 23 or 43 or 47 other pages on which to place "all the news fit to print" but which didn't fit on Page One.

Knowledge of Snakes, 'Dragons,' Turtles 'Duck Soup' to Zoologist

By PETER BROWN SIU News Service

"Excuse me, sir, but can you tell me how to fix a snake?" "Pardon me, doctor, but there's a snake in my back yard and I wonder, is he poisonous?"

"Professor, we got this thing here about three feet long with a tail like a dragon, believe me."

A call or two in the life of Ronald Brandon, Southern Illinois University zoologist whose contacts with the public usually have been between the transmitters and the receiving optics. This signal warns the user of hazards ahead.

"Easily distinguishable auditory tones warn of objects above and below. The tone may be related to degrees to gauge the width of obstacles ahead."

Love, the initial topic, is said to make fools of wise men and wise men of fools. But what of the "wise old owl?"

The reputation of great wisdom, but are they really? Dr. Masakazu Konishi, a Princeton University biologist, decided to find out. He decided that barn owls are capable of listening very wisely.

"Barn owls have an uncanny ability to catch mice in total darkness. I am using electronic surveillance to try and find out how the owls do it."

"Unlike dolphins and bats, which emit shrill cries and respond to the echoes from surrounding objects, barn owls home in on their prey by listening to the rustling sound the mouse makes as it scurries along."

Dr. Konishi described his experimental apparatus and some of his early findings to fellow scientists at a meeting of the Acoustical Society of America.

Eventually, Dr. Konishi hopes to locate and examine the processes of the brain that give the barn owl its unusual ability.

As a beginning, he has designed and built a sophisticated electronic eavesdropping apparatus to record how often, how accurately and how quickly the barn owl responds to the sounds that it hears.

The owl sits on a perch in a soundproof room that has loudspeakers built into the floor and, upon hearing a noise, flies to it.

If it lands close enough, the owl is rewarded; a light comes on, and a feeding machine dispenses a small piece of dry chicken.

As the owl flies toward the source of the sound, an automatic timer records its flight time to the thousandth of a second, while a grid of microswitches beneath the floor automatically deductions totaling less than 13¢ of the total tax to be withheld from his paycheck?

The taxpayers most likely to need more withholding are:

1) Employees who expect to earn more than $11,500 in 1971 and intend to claim the $1,500 standard deduction or itemize deductions totaling less than 13¢ of the total tax to be withheld from his paycheck?

2) Single employees who expect to earn $15,000 or more in 1971.

3) Married employees who expect to earn $25,000 or more this year and whose spouses are not employed.

4) All working couples. If you think that you may fall into one of these categories, estimate the amount to be withheld during 1971 from the tables IRS has provided to your employer.

Compare this estimate with the amount of tax liability you expect for 1971.

If more withholding is necessary, you should file a new exemption certificate (Form W-4) with your employer, claiming fewer exemptions or asking to have additional amounts withheld.

Practical Steps On Environment

Our office recently put together a small pamphlet with practical steps which citizens can take to improve our environment. It is available free.

It grew out of letters we received from citizens asking what they could do. One group of grade school students sent me a petition with the heading, "Give us this day our daily bread."

A nine-year-old boy in Alton, Illinois, wrote to me, "Please try to stop pollution, because I would like to live my whole life. Wouldn't you?"

Nine years old. At the age of nine my concerns were recess and ice cream cones, not the future of our environment nor the chances that I would live to see my grandchildren. But times have changed.

Clean air and water are unachieved goals. In recent years efforts have been made in Washington and Springfield to reduce the pollution which industry causes. But if you and I point an accusing finger at a large industry as the cause of the problem, we are only partially correct. You and I must share the blame.

Our automobiles account for approximately 60% of our air pollution problem. Our wash day detergents are prime contributors to water pollution.

The law must be enforced against industrial pollution, but if we are really convinced that pollution is a serious problem, we must be willing to take practical, personal steps to help save our environment.

I have been surprised to find few publications which address the problem of pollution from the standpoint of the average citizen.

Over the past year my staff has compiled the best suggestions which they could find for practical steps people could take to fight pollution. On Earth Day, April 22nd, I announced the publication of an Ecology Pamphlet with these suggestions.

The response has been encouraging. Housewives, students and conservation groups have written for copies of the handbook. It will continue to fill requests, free of charge, as long as the supply lasts.

You can get one by simply writing: Lt. Governor Paul Simon, Springfield, Illinois 62706. What you may also appreciate is that it is not being put out at taxpayers' expense. Do not expect that readers of this handbook will follow every suggestion. It would require a great deal of personal sacrifice to do so. But I hope that those who do read it will make a personal commitment to help in solving this problem.

For the sake of nine-year-old boys in Alton, Illinois—and everywhere—we must.

Book Review -- Greek Islands are Setting for New Adventure Novel

LEVKAS MAN, by Hammond Innes, Knopf, $6.95.

In this adventure novel there are two rogue males, father and son.

Both are temperate men, greatly different in many ways, but both rugged, dogged and determined.

The father is Pieter van der Voort, a white-haired anthropologist specializing in paleontology—a "bone man"—who is now on the island of Crete, where he has been for some time.

The son—and narrator—is Paul, a ship's officer who has had his share of adventures and has his share of troubles.

As the story begins he has returned to Amsterdam for two reasons: to dodge the police because of certain questions about a homicide, and to find his father, whom he has not seen for many years.

The father, whose professional career has been under a cloud, has left a trail leading to the Greek islands.

His purpose, grimly pursued, is to prove his theory that primitive man, originating in Africa, used the Greek Islands as a bridge to Europe.

The son, having no money, agrees with a dealer in antiquities to do a smuggling job, and thereby gains his passage to Greece.

But someone else is headed for the Greek Islands too—an English academic named Holroyd, who is intent upon uncovering whatever the elder Van Voort discovered, and claiming it in scholarly circles as his own.

The two Van der Voorts and Holroyd converge upon an underwater cave on an island named Levkas, and there the conflict is played out to a gripping finish.

The usual technique for an adventure novel is to strip everything down to action and violence.

Innes does it differently. There is plenty of action, but it is interspersed with descriptions of the islands, their history, scientific knowledge and psychological nuances. The result is a high-level drama.

50 Years Ago Runaway Horse Endangers Tinsmith

JUNE 28, 1921
Edward Heintz, 3000 Namekoi Road, narrowly escaped death as the horse pulling his tinsmith wagon became frightened—when a wagon strap broke—and ran away. The incident occurred near the post office on Niedringhaus Avenue and the horse turned onto D Street, the wagon striking an automobile. Thrown to the paved street, Heintz suffered a scalp wound and bruises about his body.

John Kelahan, park board president, will be chairman of a Fourth of July celebration at Memorial Park, 21st Street and Niedringhaus Avenue.

25 Years Ago Prepare for 50-Year Celebration

JUNE 28, 1946

She is now hard at work compiling various kinds of information to be displayed on large bulletin boards in amount of cooperation from all Granite Cityans in order to have a worthy historical display.

City Clerk A. L. Stevens announced that 1946-47 hunting licenses have arrived in his office at the city hall and are now on sale. The price for resident hunters is $2, while for non-residents it is $15.

Rev. Raymond McCallister of the Webster-Groves Christian Church will address the annual meeting of the Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross at the I.M.C.A. McCallister has been a volunteer member of the national grand officers bureau of the American Red Cross since 1942.

River Festival Patrons to Get Mixed Fare; Symphony Program on Weekends

Patrons of the Mississippi River Festival will have an opportunity to hear the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, now in its 91st season and the second oldest symphony orchestra in the United States, at performances on Saturdays and Sundays.

Internationally renowned pianist and conductor Walter Susskind is completing his third season as the orchestra's conductor and music director.

Leonard Slatkin is assistant conductor and has been named associate conductor for the 1971-72 season. Concertmaster of the 95-member orchestra is Max Rabinovitch.

Susskind became conductor and music director of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, in 1968 and has been music director of the Mississippi River Festival since its founding.

Born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, he received extensive training as a pianist, composer and conductor and became assistant conductor at the Prague German Opera House at the age of 20.

Maestro Susskind enjoys a world-wide reputation as a distinguished conductor and pianist and was conductor and music director of the Aspen, Colo., Summer Music Festival for six years prior to joining the St. Louis orchestra. He also has served as conductor and music director of the Scottish National orchestra; the Victoria Symphony, Melbourne, Australia, and the Toronto (Canada) Symphony.

The Mississippi River Festival was organized in October 1968 by the St. Louis Symphony Society and Southern Illinois University-Western. The Festival presented its first season of concerts by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on the SIU-SW campus during June and July 1969.

The third season is scheduled July 10 through Aug. 16. Saturday programs will be devoted to classical music played by the orchestra under the direction of Walter Susskind. These 8:30 p.m. programs also will feature renowned artists and guest conductors.

Guest Artists Scheduled
The 7:30 p.m. Sunday schedule will present the symphony in concerts of lighter fare, with assistant conductor, Leonard Slatkin on the podium for two concerts and guest artists and conductors like Doc Severinsen and Henry Mancini also slated.

In 1968 the orchestra acquired its first permanent home in the elegant Powell Symphony Hall, St. Louis, noted for its exquisite beauty and superb acoustics.

Last season featured the orchestra playing more concerts, 195, for more people than a half million, than ever before.

The 1970-71 season is proving even more successful. Box office records have been broken repeatedly, with the orchestra playing to more sold-out audiences than in any past season.

During the present 49-week season, the orchestra will play over 200 concerts. Its performances include regular subscription series concerts, special Sunday afternoon concerts, young people's concerts, "Kinder Konzerts" for pre-school children, an extensive concert tour of Illinois and Missouri, and performances at the Mississippi River Festival.

Festival Opens July 10
The opening concert will be on Saturday, July 10 featuring guest artist Van Cliburn, pianist; Sunday, July 11, Leonard Slatkin conducting and Jeffrey Siegel, pianist; Saturday, July 17, Angel Romero, guitarist, guest star; Sunday, July 18, Henry Mancini, guest conductor.

Miss Marilyn Horne, Saturday, July 24; Leonard Slatkin, conductor and Doc Severinsen, trumpet; Sunday, July 25; Roberta Peters, soprano on Saturday, July 31; Martin Gould, guest conductor on Sunday, Aug. 1 and again on Saturday, Aug. 7; Arthur Fiedler, guest conductor and Ruth Slenczynska, pianist programmed for Sunday, Aug. 8; Leonard Slatkin, conductor with Leonard Pennario, pianist, guest artist on Saturday, Aug. 14; Andre Kostelanetz, conductor with Max Rabinovitch, violinist, guest stars on Sunday, Aug. 15.

Season tickets for reserved seats to six or twelve Saturday and Sunday Symphony concerts will be offered until July 16, at a savings of 20% over single ticket prices. Season tickets are not available for the folk/pop/rick series or for lawn seating.

Prices for six concerts range from $12 to $27 depending on the location and for 12 concerts from $24 to $54. Coupon books containing 25 worth of coupons will be sold for $20 through July

Reservists Entitled To Training Time

Employers in Illinois and Indiana are being reminded that Reservists and National Guardsmen are entitled to time off from their jobs to perform active duty for training.

The reminder came from Martin E. Mayernik, area administrator of the Labor-Management Services Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, in Chicago. Upon their return from training, Reservists and National Guardsmen have a legal right to be restored to their positions with the same seniority, status, pay and vacation rights as they previously held.

The law also prohibits any kind of employment discrimination against a Reservist or Guardsman because of his participation in the program. Mr. Mayernik pointed out that military training duty for Guardsmen and Reservists normally occurs during the summer months, and it can be expected that most of them will be absent from employment for two or three weeks of training during this period.

Reservists and Guardsmen were cautioned by Mr. Mayernik to notify their employers before leaving for training and to report back to their jobs immediately upon completion of their tours, or they may forfeit their statutory reemployment protection.

the 4-H Club advisor

"... anyone who works with these young people in 4-H club work has just got to get a good feeling about the future of our country. Illinois Power is really involved with 4-H through our membership in the Illinois Farm Electrification Council. There are many Illinois Power people who contribute time and energy to teaching 4-H youngsters at conferences and workshops. We help boys learn how to use electric energy for more efficient farming and living. Girls learn the many ways electricity can be used in home making activities. It's a pleasure to be part of this program. You see young people maturing, acquiring skills... and accomplishing projects that actually add to the value of their parents' property. Seems to me the future of Illinois is going to be in pretty good hands..."
